SUBJECT: MOSIS Data Collection State Level Trials

The State Level Trials found in the MOSIS Data Collection system throughout various submissions are regenerated on specific days each week. If you have made changes to your data, the changes will not immediately be reflected in the State Level Trials. Below shows the days the trials are regenerated. This should help determine when to expect to see the data changes you made in your submissions reflected in the State Level Trials. The State Level Trials appear in a pink box when you click on a Certified Trial in any of the submissions listed below, they are a trial that we run across all certified trials for all districts in the state to find discrepancies for students who have possibly been reported by more than one district.
