EMBLEM AND MEANING

The FCCLA emblem shows that FCCLA is a dynamic, active organization bound for the future. The dominant collegiate lettering articulates a focus on education and student leadership. The swooping arch embodies an active organization that moves toward new arenas. The color of the emblem is one of the organizational colors - red.

FCCLA PIN

The pin is a reproduction of the FCCLA emblem. Members, advisors, honorary members, Alumni & Associates members, and chapter parents may wear the pin. The FCCLA pin is to be worn over the heart. The guard should be placed level with the lower point of the pin.

Honesty is the first chapter in the book of wisdom. Thomas Jefferson

HISTORY OF FAMILY, CAREER AND COMMUNITY LEADERS OF AMERICA

Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (then Future Homemakers of America) grew out of various state and local high school home economics clubs, which were known by different names and had no unified program. Visualizing what could be accomplished if all clubs combined efforts by working together, members of the American Home Economics Association (now American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences) and the Home Economics Education staff of the U.S. Office (now Department) of Education, together with student representatives of the various home economics clubs, took the lead in forming the national organization.

February, 1917 - The signing of the first National Vocational Education Act by President Woodrow Wilson brought into being federally supported state-conducted programs of vocational education, which included home economics. Through home economics education, the foundation was laid for the development of the organization as an integral part of the program.

June 11, 1945 - Future Homemakers of America was founded in Chicago as the national organization for home economics students in the secondary schools, both public and private. During 1945, New Homemakers of America was founded for black students in 16 states where schools were segregated by state law.

April 1, 1946 - Missouri was chartered as the twenty-ninth state association to affiliate with the national Future Homemakers of America.

July, 1948 - The first national convention was held in Kansas City, Missouri and was attended by 2,000 delegates.

July, 1965 - Future Homemakers of America and New Homemakers of America merged into one organization, keeping the name of Future Homemakers of America.

May, 1971 - HERO chapters were established as a part of Future Homemakers of America to meet the needs of students in home economics related occupation courses.

July, 1977 – The FHA/HERO emblem design was developed and approved.

July, 1983 – FHA/HERO’s national headquarters and leadership center was dedicated and is located in Reston, Virginia. STAR Events (Students Taking Action with Recognition) began with three events offered: Chapter Activities, Job Interview, and Illustrated Talk.

July, 1995 - National Leadership Meeting voting delegates approved a bylaws amendment to change all references to “home economics” in the bylaws to “family and consumer sciences.”

July 7, 1999 - National Leadership Meeting voting delegates approve the name change from Future Homemakers of America to Family, Career and Community Leaders of America. Member types were referred to as comprehensive and occupational.

September 2003 – “The Ultimate Leadership Experience” - the tagline chosen by members – was used on all national materials.

More detailed historical information can be found in “The Handbook to Ultimate Leadership” available from www.fcclainc.org.

In order to succeed, your desire for success should be greater than your fear of failure. Bill Cosby

WHAT IS FCCLA?

Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) is a national organization of students who have taken or are taking a course in comprehensive or occupational family and consumer sciences classes through grade 12. It is open to students of all races and religious beliefs.

FCCLA is one of the nations largest Career and Technical Student Organization (CTSO). It involves more than 200,000 students through nearly 7,000 local chapters in 50 state associations including Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. In 2010-2011 Missouri FCCLA had 11,702 members in 368 local chapters, making Missouri the 5th largest state association.

LOCAL CHAPTER COMPONENTS

There are five basic components of an FCCLA chapter: membership, advisor, leadership, meetings, and projects.

Membership - To become a member, a student must be taking (or have taken) a family and consumer sciences education course, and pay membership dues. Membership dues include national, state, regional (all three required); and local dues (optional). Students not paying national, state, and regional dues are not official FCCLA members.

Advisor – The family and consumer sciences teacher serves as the chapter advisor.

Leadership - Members select one set of officers and/or each class has its own set of leaders and/or leaders from each class serve on a school wide FCCLA executive council.

Meetings – Chapter meetings, programs, and work sessions may occur during class time or at other arranged times during or after school.

Projects – Projects are planned and carried out by members as individuals, as small groups, or as a chapter. Projects should relate to the family and consumer sciences classes and topics. Projects may involve school and community action during class time, on weekends, before and after school, or during activity periods.

MISSOURI STATE ASSOCIATION

Adult Leadership - The state association is under the guidance of a state advisor employed by the Family Consumer Sciences and Human Services Section, Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. All staff members assist with the implementation and management of FCCLA programs and activities. Regional, state and national membership dues are collected through the state association office and processed on a monthly basis.

Student Leadership – Each year, voting delegates on the regional and state levels select students to serve on the Missouri FCCLA State Executive Council. These students provide leadership and direction for the association and promote FCCLA activities and membership throughout the year. A directory of the State Executive Council members is found in the front of this member handbook.

State Activities – Each year, the State Executive Council approves a budget to fund the activities of the state association. Missouri membership dues support the following state activities:

- Missouri membership pins (one per member, sent to chapter advisors upon receipt of dues)
- Missouri FCCLA Scholarships
- Missouri FCCLA Legislative Shadowing Program
- State Executive Council activities
- Student Leadership Training
- Advisor Leadership Training
- FCCLA sponsored LifeSmarts (financial literacy program)
- Participation in partner events and activities such as Teen Dating and Violence Prevention Week, alcohol use prevention groups and activities, and other relevant topics

A person who never made a mistake never tried anything new. Albert Einstein

NATIONAL FCCLA ORGANIZATION

Family, Career and Community Leaders of America, Inc. (FCCLA) is headquartered in Reston, Virginia. Led by the national board of directors, a national executive director, national staff, and the student national officers, the organization provides a menu of programs with ready-to-use materials to guide students through creating and carrying out projects. Some of the benefits provided to members through the national organization are:

- National member magazine, Teen Times
- Newsletter for adult leaders, The Adviser
- Informative chapter mailings and promotional materials
- National program development (such as Families First and STAR Events)
- Program workbooks and chapter resources
- Training for adult and student leaders
- National promotion of the organization
- Conferences such as Cluster Meetings and National Leadership Conference

PROMOTING FCCLA

Each FCCLA member has a responsibility to promote the organization and to continue the positive legacy of those members that have been part of the organization. It is important that members can communicate their knowledge and enthusiasm about the organization to other teenagers, parents, school administrators, community members, legislators, and members of the media.

Chapter Image – Actions speak louder than words - use chapter projects to build a positive image in the mind of students and adults in the community! Use the FCCLA planning process to develop chapter and individual projects that address important, real-life concerns. Utilize FCCLA national programs to make a positive impact. Make sure that information and visuals present a positive, up-to-date image of FCCLA and family and consumer sciences.

Guide to Promoting FCCLA – Members and advisors may download the Guide to Promoting FCCLA kit to use as a resource for promoting the local FCCLA chapter. The purpose of this is to:

- Enhance the image, awareness, and understanding of FCCLA.
- To position FCCLA as the only student led organization with family as its central focus.
- To position FCCLA and family and consumer sciences education as the link for learning "soft skills" needed for youth to succeed in life. Examples of these skills would be: decision making, creative and critical thinking, teamwork, intra- and interpersonal communication skills.
- To create a public perception that FCCLA has changed with the times and its programs and activities address the needs of the 21st century.

PROGRAMS

FCCLA programs encourage members to enhance their personal growth and build leadership skills. Follow these steps to get involved in state and national FCCLA programs!

1. Learn about FCCLA programs by reading this handbook and other FCCLA resources, such as those available on www.fcclainc.org. Utilize the specific program handbook (if available) from national FCCLA headquarters. Learn more about the program – talk to other members or advisors about their projects. Read about projects in Teen Times.
2. Select a program that fits member interests and complements the family and consumer sciences class work. Use the FCCLA planning process to help brainstorm and select a project idea.
3. Start small with short-term projects or a single activity.
4. Encourage members to participate and to be responsible for their part of the project. Keep track of progress toward the project goal. Have some fun!
5. Seek recognition in the school and community and from state and national FCCLA. Fill out the awards application for the program (if applicable) and submit by the required deadline. Award forms are found at www.fcclainc.org.

FCCLA members are encouraged to participate in projects such as Missouri's LifeSmarts. These activities are considered an extension of the activities a chapter would normally implement. Missouri FCCLA administers the National Consumers League program "LifeSmarts – The Ultimate Consumer Challenge." The LifeSmarts program is a natural extension of the FCCLA program, Financial Fitness.

For more information about the programs, contact your local chapter advisor or visit www.fcclainc.org.

EXCELLENCE IN ADVISING AWARD

Missouri FCCLA members may nominate their chapter advisor for the “Excellence in Advising” Award. This is a great way to recognize chapter advisors for all the work they do to help members become strong leaders in families, careers and communities. SCHOLARSHIPS FOR MISSOURI FCCLA MEMBERS

Nominate Your Advisor!

PLANNING PROCESS

The FCCLA Planning Process establishes a 5-step process designed to enable chapter members to learn goal setting and decision-making, develop leadership, expand knowledge and skills, and focus on individualized involvement and use these concerns and issues as the basis for developing projects for the programs listed above.

Identify concerns

Set a goal

Form a plan

Act

Follow-Up

*Our goals can only be reached through a vehicle of plan, in which we must fervently believe, and upon which we must vigorously act.
There is no other route to success. Pablo Picasso*

REGIONAL MEETINGS

An annual fall regional meeting is held in each of the Missouri FCCLA regions. These meetings are aimed at meeting specific regional needs and concerns, leadership development and introduction to the FCCLA year. All members and advisors are encouraged to attend and participate. Questions regarding regional meetings should be directed to the regional president and advisor.

FALL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCES

October 23-24, 2011 – Osage Beach

It's time to "access" FCCLA through one of the following conferences! Members may choose one of the three conferences to attend.

Take AIM (Active & Involved Members) Conference Any new FCCLA member is encouraged to attend the Take AIM (Active & Involved Members) conference. Members will learn how to use the FCCLA programs and activities to their full potential. Each will complete the Step 1 program and develop plans for their first Power of One project. Separate sessions will be held for middle school and high school members.

Leadership Unlimited All officers (local and regional) are encouraged to attend to focus on the development of leadership skills specifically related to FCCLA. Sessions will focus on Dynamic Leadership concepts such as public speaking, team building, communication and conflict resolution, and personal qualities of effective leaders. Regional presidents are expected to attend as stated in the state bylaws.

CIA (Chapters in Action) All chapters are encouraged to send teams of 2-3 members to learn about these national FCCLA programs – Financial Fitness, Families First, and Student Body. Chapter teams will hear speakers related to each topic; learn how to implement projects using FCCLA and other resources; and each chapter will develop and leave with a plan of action for all three national programs.

CLUSTER MEETINGS

"Raising the Bar" is the theme of the 2011 Cluster Meetings. Outstanding general sessions, workshops for members and adults, and the parade of chapters are just a few of the memorable events of a Cluster Meeting weekend. Three Cluster Meetings will be held across the United States this fall. The meetings are in Atlanta, GA, Denver, CO and Minneapolis, MN. Chapters may attend individually or with other chapters within their regions. Registration information is found on the national FCCLA website.

STATE LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

Each spring the State Leadership Conference is held to involve students in FCCLA activities (such as State STAR Events and community service) and to elect the state president, state first-vice president, and national officer candidates. The 2012 State Leadership Conference will be held at the Holiday Inn Select, Columbia, March 25-27. The student-developed theme for the 2012 conference is "Not Another Teen Conference: Dare to be Different." Registration materials will be available in January. Plans for the conference are developed based on needs and concerns within the state. Learning experiences are planned for both student and advisor delegates. State Leadership Conference is an excellent way to energize chapter members. Be sure to attend!

NATIONAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

Each summer, FCCLA members from all state associations meet to celebrate the accomplishments of the past year, conduct official business, and to prepare for the upcoming year during the National Leadership Conference. The National Leadership Conference sites rotate around the continental United States, determined by national FCCLA region (Central, North Atlantic, Pacific and Southern) and meeting facilities available to accommodate the many FCCLA members who attend. The 2012 National Leadership Conference will be held in Orlando, July 8-12, 2012. Regional presidents and state executive council members and their advisors are expected to attend. National STAR Events competitions also take place at this time. More information on conference arrangements, including costs, will be available in January.

FCCLA: THE ULTIMATE LEADERSHIP EXPERIENCE!
ARE YOU READY FOR IT?

Missouri FCCLA is looking for active and involved FCCLA members who are interested in assuming leadership roles at the state and national levels.

Regional and state FCCLA officers are members who are willing accept challenges, cooperate with others, meet new people, travel, and have fun making FCCLA “The Ultimate Leadership Experience” for all members and advisors!

If you are willing to sign up for more active leadership, contact your regional president or state officer. The Officer Qualification Forms represented in this handbook are available in full-sized format on the Missouri FCCLA website – www.mofccla.org

(Officer candidates must be affiliated by December 20)
