Lesson Assessment (acceptable evidence):

Assessment should relate to the performance outcome for goals, objectives and GLE's. Assessment can be question answer, performance activity, etc. Learners will work in cooperative-learning groups to identify the characteristics of a successful learner. Students will identify characteristics that will be most helpful for them. Counselor/instructor will assess learners' cooperative work skills through observation.

Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions: What does a successful student look like? Engagement (Hook): Counselor/Instructor comes dressed as a "geek" and carries a stack of books and papers ... AND ... a report card with all F's, so is this really a successful student? NOTE: If the counselor/instructor is short on time, he/she can show the students a picture of someone who looks like a "geek", posing the same types of questions.

Procedures

Instructor Procedures: NOTE: Counselor/Instructor actively encourages participation by all students and monitors student participation making note of	Student Involvement:
--	------------------------------------

those who do not participate. These students may be candidates for Responsive Services, e.g., small groups focusing on participation skills. <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Pose the following question: “What does a successful student look like?” Discuss the costume and/or Greta the Geek handout and ask the students, “Do I (or Greta the Geek) look like a successful student?” Then show the report card with all F’s. Point out that being a successful student requires more than “looking” successful.2. Divide students into groups and assign group member responsibilities. Hold up the “A” Report Card and ask, “How can we transform Greta the Geek into Suzie the Successful Student?” Give the following instructions: “Brainstorm the qualities/ characteristics of a successful student. The group recorder will write those qualities on the handout “Characteristics of a Successful Student.” Monitor the progress of the group and check for cooperative behavior.3. As the students share the results of their group work, the counselor/instructor or assigned student will write the characteristics of the successful student on the chart paper.4. Pose the questions “What one characteristic stands out as being potentially helpful for you? How might you incorporate the characteristic into your actions?”5. During the next lesson you will analyze your learning style: how, when, where, you learn the best. Between now and then, be aware of the choices you make about where to study.	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Class discussion2. Students work on the project in cooperative groups of four. Assign roles: Recorder, Encourager, Monitor and Reporter.3. Students share results with the rest of the class.4. Students identify characteristics and give an example of when and/or how the characteristic will be used. Have students write which characteristics will be the most beneficial to them and how they will use this characteristic to improve their academic success.
