Lesson Assessment (acceptable evidence):

Assessment should relate to the performance outcome for goals, objectives and GLE's. Assessment can be question answer, performance activity, etc.

Through group discussion, students will identify the roles and responsibilities of various school workers. Students will identify implications of what would happen in the school community if we did not have a school worker to complete that role or responsibility.

Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions:

- What is a job? (Something that a person does. Examples: the custodian keeps the school clean, the teacher teaches children, the cook cooks the food.)
- What is a responsibility? (Things that are expected of the person in a work role. Examples: The custodian sweeps the floors, empties trash, cleans classrooms, vacuums, replaces toilet paper, orders cleaning supplies, etc. The teacher develops lesson plans, supervises children, grades papers, instructs classes, attend meetings, helps children manage their own behavior.)

(Review the above concepts at the beginning of the lesson and the following concept after the activities relating to roles and responsibilities of workers.)

- Why are school and learning important to workers? (Summarize by telling students that they are describing the skills people need to be able to do their work.)

Engagement (Hook):

Arrive in classroom with magnifying glass; search classroom as if looking for clues.

On poster board or chart paper (use a media that you will be able to keep and bring back for additional lessons) have students brainstorm all of the people that work in the school setting. Examples may include: Principal, Counselor, Teacher, Librarian, Custodian, Cooks, Secretary, Bus Driver, School Nurse (add other roles as applicable to your school setting).

Procedures

Instructor Procedures:

1. Re-introduce yourself. If you remember what we investigated in Kindergarten, hold up your right hand. (Review Kindergarten lessons during which students interviewed parents and/or other adults about what they do in the world of work). I'm going to need your help again this year – You'll learn more about that in our next lessons together."

Student Involvement:

1. Students will demonstrate engagement by holding up their hands and contributing their ideas.

| <ol style="list-style-type: none">2. Post a piece of poster board or chart paper with a circle or outline of a school building on it. Ask students to brainstorm jobs of the people who work within the school. As students brainstorm the possible jobs, counselor records the suggestions (be sure to leave plenty of space between each of the jobs so you will be able to write more about each job later in the lesson).3. After students brainstorm the list of school workers, select one of the workers and ask students to identify what that worker does and the responsibilities of the person who does that job. For example, you might say, "Let's begin with the cooks. What is the role of the people who cook breakfast and lunch in our school? Record responses under the job title "cook."4. As the students brainstorm, explain that they are describing the "role" of the cook and the counselor will record the role of the cook onto the poster.5. Ask the students to brainstorm the responsibilities of the school cooks. Say something like: "Now, let's make a list of all of the responsibilities that our school cooks have." As students brainstorm the responsibilities, counselor again records the responses.6. Follow the same procedure with the remaining school jobs listed in # 2.7. Ask students "How can we be sure that these lists are correct?" Guide students to include "observation" as a way to verify the accuracy of the lists.8. In closing, ask students to draw a picture of one school worker jobs they would like to | <ol style="list-style-type: none">2. Students will verbally brainstorm a list of jobs within the school building.3. Students respond that the role of the cooks is to prepare breakfast (if applicable) and lunch for others in the school.4. Students come to a consensus on the role of the cook.5. Students brainstorm the responsibilities of the school cooks. Possible responses include: order food, cook food, serve food, get tables ready for students to eat on, wash trays and utensils, put away leftover food.6. Students respond as in the previous example.7. Students offer suggestions, including "observation". Counselor tells them that they are good "investigators," and asks them to continue investigating until the next lesson by observing people doing their work.8. Students will draw a picture of one worker and volunteer to tell everyone |

Teacher Follow-Up Activities

Ask teachers to help students observe the responsibilities of school workers throughout the day.
