REPORTING OF SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHING ASSIGNMENTS

Purpose: To assist districts with reporting accurate course assignment data for special education teachers. This document supplements Exhibit 16 in the Core Data and MOSIS Reference Manual which contains the definitions and instructions for reporting. It is for guidance and may not cover all possible situations.

Notes:

1. Special education teaching assignment codes all begin with "19." Special education teachers co-teaching with a general education teacher should use 195000 or 195010, NOT the general education course code.
2. Delivery Systems:
 - CO - Co-teaching
 - IG - Individual/Small Group
 - IN - ECSE Integrated classroom
 - SC - Self-contained (educator is teacher of record)
 - LI - Low Incidence Self-Contained
3. The teacher of record (teacher giving the grade) is assumed to be the special education teacher for delivery systems of SC and LI
4. Classes with a combination of delivery systems (i.e. self-contained (SC) and resource (IG)) or a combination of students (i.e. students assessed against alternate achievement standards and students assessed with regular assessments) should be reported as two assignments, but the Combined Class indicator can be used to indicate that the assignments are happening at the same time.
5. State Certification Requirements are indicated in the table. In order to be appropriately certificated, the certification grade span and the grade level of the assignment must align. "Any Special Education Certificate" does not include Student Services certificates.
6. The last column "Report caseload number or student assignments?" refers to the requirement to report either A) a caseload number (number of students with disabilities receiving instruction or support) in the MOSIS October Course Assignment file; or B) the list of students assigned to the teacher in the MOSIS October Student Assignment file. These are general rules for reporting, but there are exceptions. For all teaching assignments, either the caseload number or the student assignment list must be provided. The term "caseload" does not refer to the Special Education caseload number involving the Special Education contact number.
