Validation of Items Includes:

- Competency Match
- Accuracy of Information
- Free from Bias
- Job-Relatedness & Relevance

Setting Standards on a Criterion-Referenced Test

- Performance level expected of a new teacher entering a classroom in Missouri
- Performance is compared to the criterion
- Examinees are not compared to other examinees, as in norm-referenced tests

Setting Standards on a Criterion-Referenced Test

- Standard setting process
 - Defining the expected performance of a new teacher entering a classroom in Missouri
 - Computing an expected total test score for each subtest
- Standard setting procedure referred to as the “modified Angoff method”
- Industry standard method used for many professions – education, law, medicine, etc.

Expected Performance Judgments

Standard setting panelists estimated the expected performance of “individuals who are just at the level of knowledge and skills required to perform effectively in this field in Missouri schools.”

The panelists represented PK-12 schools, arts & sciences, and educator preparation faculty.

Considerations for Standard Setting

- Statistical Measurement Issues
- Two types of measurement error
 - False Positive: Examinee passes who should fail
 - False Negative: Examinee fails who should pass
- Striking a proper balance

Considerations for Standard Setting

- Consequences of False Positives
 - Candidate admitted who may perform poorly in the classroom
 - But candidate still must meet numerous other criteria – program requirements, advisor evaluations, other assessments, job interviews, etc.

Considerations for Standard Setting

- Consequences of False Negatives
 - May exclude talented candidates with potential to succeed
 - But failing candidates can retake test, which is not required of false positives

Considerations for Standard Setting

- Adjust cutscores by using the Standard Error of Measurement (SEM)
- Accepted method of taking inherent measurement error and other considerations into account
- Raise panel-based cutscores by 1 or 2 SEMs to minimize false positives
- Lower panel-based cutscores by 1 or 2 SEMs to minimize false negatives

Operational Results: Overview 2014-2015

- Data from candidates who tested from September 2, 2014 through April 12, 2015
- Candidate/Test Combinations: 7,118
- Of the 56 certification assessments, 37 had $N \geq 30$.
- Analyses include first & best attempts only
- First & best attempts from Praxis II tests from 2013-2014.

Operational Results: Considerations

- Candidate preparation may improve in the future
- Initial sample of candidates is typical of future populations
- Results will improve when “Best Attempt” analyses can supplement “First Attempt” results
- Change is relative, difficult, and improvement occurs over time.

Operational Results: Considerations

- Why First & Best Attempt?
 - The best attempt column shows the cumulative pass rate for all examinees, taking into account all of their attempts. It is the best indication of what percentage of candidates have passed, whether they did so on their first try or after multiple attempts.
 - As time goes on, people who fail will retest and possibly go from fail status to passing status.

Types & Timing of Assessments

- Types of Assessments
 - 50 – Assessments with Multiple Choice Items
 - 6 – Assessments with Multiple Choice Items and Constructed Response Items
- Timing of Assessments & Item Analysis
