

Taking Charge of

CHANGE in Missouri

Keynote Speaker

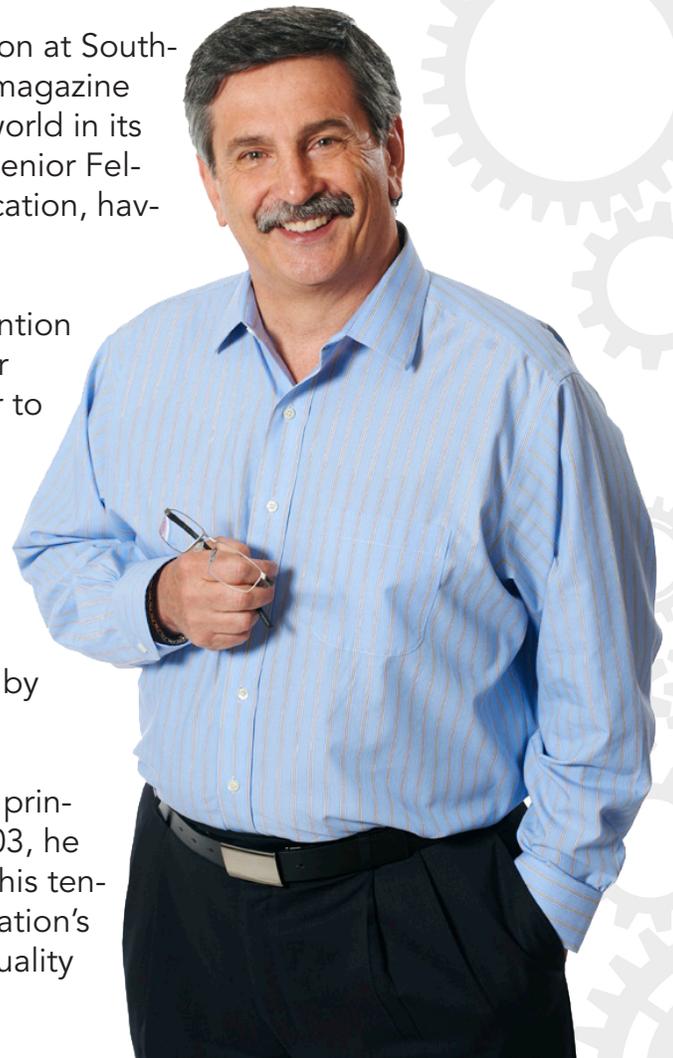

RAYMOND J. MCNULTY

Holiday Inn Executive Center, Columbia, MO • Sunday, July 31

Raymond J. McNulty is dean of the School of Education at Southern New Hampshire University, which Fast Company magazine named the 12th most innovative organization in the world in its World's 50 Most Innovative Companies. He is also a Senior Fellow to the International Center for Leadership in Education, having previously served as its president.

Ray serves as the chair of the National Dropout Prevention Network and was recently the chief learning officer for Penn Foster, a global leader in online education. Prior to joining the International Center, he was a Senior Fellow at the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, where he worked with leading educators on improving our nation's high schools. Ray is a past president of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development (ASCD) and author of It's Not Us Against Them — Creating the Schools We Need, published in 2009 by the International Center.

An educator since 1973, Ray has been a teacher, vice principal, principal and superintendent. From 2001 to 2003, he served as Vermont's education commissioner. During his tenure, Ray focused on aligning the Department of Education's work on three key issues: early education, educator quality and secondary school reform.
