Lesson Assessment (acceptable evidence):

Formative assessment relates to the summative assessment for unit (performance outcome for goals, objectives and GLEs). Assessment can be question answer, performance activity, etc.

Final performances and discussion during the role-play situation will assess whether the skills have been learned or not.

Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions: What does it mean to utilize and accept personal responsibility in relationships with others? Why is it important to have self-awareness during conflict?

Engagement (Hook): “I need 2 volunteers.” After I have them, I ask them to spontaneously role-play a common conflict among 8th grade students.
Procedures

Instructor Procedures:

1. Ask students to think of a recent situation where they were involved in a conflict. It can be with a boyfriend/girlfriend, family member, someone at school, teacher/principal, someone in the neighborhood, etc.

2. Pass out the Put Yourself In Check worksheet. Ask the students to write a brief description of the recent conflict using the focus points in the student involvement section.

3. Have the students list the feelings and reactions that they experienced during the conflict (examples include sweating, anger, making a fist, heart pounding, walking away, frustration, hurt, disappointment, etc.). Ask the students to determine whether the action was appropriate/responsible or inappropriate/irresponsible for that particular situation.

4. Have students turn to a neighbor and discuss the situation, their reactions and their responses to their reactions. Each student should provide input to the other.

5. Select students to share their situation and reactions with the class. For any reactions that may have been inappropriate, discuss what the appropriate and responsible action would have been and how the situation may have been different.

6. Ask for student volunteers to role-play another typical conflict but this time to use interpersonal skills and personal responsibility to resolve the issue.

7. Discuss the differences between the conflicts at the beginning of the class and those at the end of the class.

Student Involvement:

1. Students will remember a recent conflict. They need to focus on the cause/purpose, the initial events, the escalation point, the intervention (if any), the final event, and the resolution.

2. Students will write a brief description of the conflict using the focus points above.

3. Students recall feelings and reactions that they experienced during this conflict. They list these feelings and then determine if the feeling or reaction was appropriate/responsible or inappropriate/irresponsible for that particular situation.

4. Students will share their situation and reactions with a neighbor and using active listening skills, the neighbor will respond to the reactions.

5. Participate in discussion by realizing and expressing different reactions that might have lead to a different result. Students must begin to realize how personal responsibility in conflict can change the outcome and is a valuable tool in the growing-up process.

6. Student volunteers will practice skills learned in class in front of peers.

7. Students will become aware of the benefits of accepting responsibility and using interpersonal skills in resolving conflict.
Teacher Follow-Up Activities
Teacher will be able to use and refer to the skills learned during today’s lesson during future conflicts in the classroom.

Counselor reflection notes (completed after the lesson)
Put Yourself In Check

Think of a recent situation where you were involved in a conflict. It can be with a boyfriend/girlfriend, friend, family member, someone at school, or a teacher/principal. Write a brief description of the conflict.

The cause/purpose:
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

The initial events:
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

The escalation point:
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

The intervention (if any):

______________________________________________________________________________

The final event:
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

The resolution (if any):
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
