

Put your organization in a leadership position in our Missouri's schools

The best place to reach future employees is in Missouri schools today. It is increasingly important for companies to reach students with leadership and high-tech skills before they leave the educational programs in our public schools.

Businesses that focus on the needs of the students and educators in the technology environment can make a tremendous investment in our communities and our future.

An important step in reaching this significant group of students and teachers — immersed in technology education — is a partnership with the Missouri Technology Student Association.

Why partner with Missouri TSA?

Missouri TSA is a non-profit organization devoted to the needs of students in technology education. Missouri TSA serves over 4,000 middle and high school students in 40 local school district chapters. One of the fastest growing student organizations in Missouri.

Our mission is to prepare our membership for the challenges of our dynamic world by promoting technological literacy, leadership and problem solving skills, which provide personal growth and maximize learning opportunities. Teachers are eligible to use TSA activities in the classrooms to extend the learning beyond traditional classroom experiences.

"Learning to live in a technical world"
TSA Motto

Why partner NOW with Missouri TSA

The shortage of skilled workers in high-tech areas and the exponential growth of new technology creates both a need and an opportunity in related fields such as; communications, manufacturing, cyberspace, transportation, industrial design, telecommunications, medicine, publishing and others not yet established.

These rapid changes and advances in technology put our schools in a challenging position to provide adequate resources and unlimited opportunities for students involved in technology education. Those of us in technology education are striving to create opportunities for all of our Missouri young people so that no student is left behind in this digital age.

By partnering with Missouri TSA, you will provide much-needed support for advancing technology education opportunities for Missouri's young people. You will be investing in your future workforce by supporting Missouri TSA.

"TSA is an organization focused on technology, leadership and career development. Students work with each other, teachers, and professionals to challenge and expand their skills. These experiences provide opportunities to become leaders in and out of school. In short, TSA helps form the leaders of tomorrow."
