Lesson Measurable Learning Objectives:

The student will list feelings and reactions of one recent conflict and determine if the reaction was appropriate or inappropriate.

Lesson Formative Assessment (acceptable evidence):

Assessment should relate to the performance outcome for goals, objectives and GLE.

Assessment can be question answer, performance activity, etc.

Final performances and discussion during the role-play situation will assess whether the skills have been learned or not.

Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions: Why is it important to have self-awareness during conflict?

Engagement (Hook): Announce, “I need 2 volunteers.” After selecting volunteers, ask them to spontaneously role-play a common conflict among 8th grade students. (Be prepared with a few suggestions for them to choose from if they cannot think of one on their own.)

Procedures

Instructor Procedures/Instructional Strategies:	Student Involvement/Instructional Activities:
1. Ask students to think of a recent situation where they were involved in a conflict. It can be with a boyfriend/girlfriend, family member, someone at school, teacher/principal, someone in the neighborhood, etc.	1. Students will remember a recent conflict. They need to focus on the cause/purpose, the initial events, the escalation point, the intervention (if any), the final event, and the resolution.
2. Pass out the Put Yourself In Check worksheet. Ask the students to write a brief description of the recent conflict using the focus points in the student involvement section.	2. Students will write a brief description of the conflict using the focus points above.
3. Have the students list the feelings and	3. Students recall feelings and reactions that

reactions that they experienced during the conflict (examples include sweating, anger, making a fist, heart pounding, walking away, frustration, hurt, disappointment, etc.). Ask the students to determine whether the action was appropriate/responsible or inappropriate/irresponsible for that particular situation. 4. Have students turn to a neighbor and discuss the situation, their reactions and their responses to their reactions. Each student should provide input to the other. 5. Select students to share their situation and reactions with the class. For any reactions that may have been inappropriate, discuss what the appropriate and responsible action would have been and how the situation may have been different. 6. Ask for student volunteers to role-play another typical conflict but this time to use interpersonal skills and personal responsibility to resolve the issue. 7. Discuss the differences between the conflicts at the beginning of the class and those at the end of the class.	they experienced during this conflict. They list these feelings and then determine if the feeling or reaction was appropriate/responsible or inappropriate/irresponsible for that particular situation. 4. Students will share their situation and reactions with a neighbor and using active listening skills, the neighbor will respond to the reactions. 5. Participate in discussion by realizing and expressing different reactions that might have led to a different result. Students must begin to realize how personal responsibility in conflict can change the outcome and is a valuable tool in the growing-up process. 6. Student volunteers will practice skills learned in class in front of peers. 7. Students will become aware of the benefits of accepting responsibility and using interpersonal skills in resolving conflict.

Teacher Follow-Up Activities

Teacher will be able to use and refer to the skills learned during today’s lesson during future conflicts in the classroom.

Counselor reflection notes (completed after the lesson)

Put Yourself In Check

Think of a recent situation where you were involved in a conflict. It can be with a boyfriend/girlfriend, friend, family member, someone at school, or a teacher/principal. Write a brief description of the conflict.

The cause/purpose:

The initial events:

The escalation point:

The intervention (if any):

The final event:

The resolution (if any):

List all of your feelings and reactions and check the appropriate column:

	Responsible/ Appropriate	Irresponsible/ Inappropriate
1. _____	_____	_____
2. _____	_____	_____
3. _____	_____	_____
4. _____	_____	_____

- 5. _____
- 6. _____
- 7. _____
- 8. _____

For any actions marked irresponsible/inappropriate, what could you have done differently to show personal responsibility and mature conflict-resolution skills?
