

Writing Prompt

The student models in this set are responses to the prompt below.

Your city council is debating whether to enact a strict “no texting while driving” law in your city and has scheduled an open meeting during which citizens may share their thoughts on the proposed law. Using a blend of two or three writing genres (choose from expository, argumentative, narrative), write the text you would read to the council at the open meeting to present your thoughts on the proposed law. Integrate and cite (either formally or informally) material from the two sources available to you with your own thoughts and/or experiences.