

Create a table of equivalent ratios to determine how much of each ingredient would be needed, depending on how many people that need to be served. Determine how much of each ingredient needs to be purchased.