

Family Consumer Sciences and Human Services Discussion List Rules

The purpose of the MO-FACS Discussion List is to provide an electronic communication forum for educators, parents, and citizens, at large, throughout Missouri who are interested in the field of family consumer sciences education. The MO-FACS Discussion List is intended to facilitate the communication and exchange of ideas for improving and expanding student outcomes related to family and consumer sciences education in Missouri.

If you can find an answer by going to Google or a culinary website, for example, please search there before putting out a request. Look for lesson plan ideas on some of the many lesson plan sites available.

Projects should be tied to a competency so identify the competency you are teaching so the responder will know if the learning activity will be appropriate.

Hit reply to sender NOT to entire listserv if you want to get a copy of the response OR if you are sending a response to sender.

Topics of discussion might include:

- Sharing ideas and resources
- Professional development opportunities
- Promotion of opportunities for youth (including FCCLA)
- Networking
- Legislation
- Possible grants
- Policies
