

Grades 3-5 Fine Arts Curriculum

RATIONALE

Performing, creating, and responding to fine arts are basic processes for all people. Fine arts connect diverse groups of people to creative expressions. The fine arts are the foundation for life-long leisure skills that provide creative ideas and thoughts to be expressed through a variety of media. It provides relaxation and/or entertainment for people. Fine arts include such media as music, dance, drama, and arts and crafts.

DESCRIPTION/PURPOSE

In essence, the fine arts curriculum is a foundation for assuming a holistic approach to teach students a variety of curricular areas that heighten sensory, communication and leisure areas. It serves as a foundation for literacy through symbolic representation of thoughts and ideas. Fine arts curriculum requires active engagement in learning, acceptance of creativity, linkage to other curricular areas, and generalization to the community. Often the fine arts serve as a motivator to teach students. The fine arts curriculum is a broad base subject that affects people of all ages in the past, present, and future posing a major force in the mores and culture of the time. These priorities focus on the attainment of graduate goals and the Show-Me Standards identified throughout the fine arts curriculum.

Through the fine arts curriculum, students with severe disabilities are able to build on long-range outcomes of the following:

1. Participate in communicative interactions that focus on preferences, choices, etc. of the fine arts
2. Indicate choices of media for leisure skills
3. Express the feelings the fine arts instill in them
4. Follow a routine to complete a fine arts item
5. Serve as a means for participation in cause-and-effect activities
6. Serve as a means for relaxation and/or sensory integration
7. Participate in a variety of recreational activities
8. Participate in fine arts community activities

Content Description by Grade Level Span

Grade levels are divided into four segments; kindergarten-second grade; third-fifth grade; sixth-eighth grades; and, ninth-twelfth grades. Grade twelve can last up to four years. The curriculum is cumulative in that skills learned during the elementary years are expanded during the middle school grades and so forth. The goals and benchmarks for the student must be selected from the student's curricular grade span. We recognize that each student will accomplish the graduate goals by different means (goals mastered).
